REGULATIONS

OF THE

A T H E N E U M .

ARTICLE I.

The Rooms of the Atheneum will be kept open daily from A. M. to P. M., Sundays excepted.

ARTICLE II.

Each subscriber shall have the privileges of the Atheneum for himself only : provided, however, he may introduce strangers, who will be entitled to admission for one month, upon having their names and place of residence recorded in a book kept for that purpose, together with that of the person by whom they are introduced, who shall be responsible for any neglect on their part of the established rules and regulations.

ARTICLE III.

Each subscriber will be furnished with a Catalogue of the Books in the Social Library, together with a list of the Periodicals taken, and a copy of the regulations of the Atheneum.

ARTICLE IV.

The Books of the Social Library are not to be taken from the room appropriated to them without the knowledge of the Librarian.

ARTICLE V.

Books or Periodicals belonging to the Atheneum shall not be taken from the rooms until three months after their reception, and then for a period not exceeding one week, and no Book or Periodical shall be taken without the written receipt of the person taking the same.

ARTICLE VI.

Any person carrying a Book or Pamphlet from the rooms, contrary to the preceding regulations, shall forfeit his right as a subscriber.

ARTICLE VII.

Every clerk or apprentice, if a minor, wishing to become a subscriber, shall, if required by the Librarian, produce a recommendation from his employer.

ARTICLE VIII.

No subscriber shall be allowed to transfer to another person his privilege in the Atheneum.

ARTICLE IX.

A book for subscription to the Atheneum shall be kept open in such manner as the Managers may direct.

ARTICLE X.

All loans or donations made to the Atheneum shall be regularly entered, with the names and conditions, if any, of the donors, in a book kept for that purpose by the Librarian.

ARTICLE XI.

No smoking or loud talking shall be permitted in the rooms.

New-Bedford, January, 1839.
